WINTER INTERNSHIP FOR SOCIETAL HAPPINESS (WISH)

ABOUT THE PROGRAM

The institute is introducing Winter Internship for Societal Happiness (WISH) program from current academic year 2016-17. The program is intended to enrich and supplement the learning of our management students by providing them opportunity to work for the betterment and upliftment of the weaker and the deprived section of the society. In this direction the institute has entered into a long term collaboration with more than ten NGOs operating in the state of Rajasthan and based in Jaipur. These partnering NGOs are engaged in social welfare and working in diverse fields like promotion of girl child education and health, helping people suffering with AIDS, collection and distribution of surplus food from hotels to the needy, rescue and care of birds and animals, etc.

Under WISH program, enrolled students will be trained by the NGOs and post training they will be sent for field work. The program will not only provide opportunity to our students to contribute in improving the livelihood of underprivileged section of society but also help themselves in becoming more compassionate and empathetic towards marginalised section.
